

Kyoto University GSM SDGs Leadership Award 2024

Application Guidelines

(Revised on July 9, 2024)

1) Purpose of the Award

The purpose of the Kyoto University GSM SDGs Leadership Award is to identify and cultivate SDG-related project and research activities promoted by graduate students and graduates at the Kyoto University GSM.

Supported by

Mizuho Securities Endowment (Corporate Finance & Capital Markets)
SHIFT Endowed Chair

2) Outline

2-1) Target Activities

SDG-related practical and research activities undertaken by students and graduates of the Graduate School of Management, Kyoto University (GSM) will be considered.

Both for-profit and non-profit activities are acceptable. Both individual and group applications are acceptable.

Individual applicants must be students or graduates of GSM. In the case of group applications, the applicant representative must be a student or graduates of GSM, and may include non-GSM students and others beyond Kyoto University. Collaborative projects with other organizations are also acceptable.

Winners from the previous year or the year before the previous year cannot apply as a representative.

If multiple entries are submitted by the same entrant, only one prize will be awarded. (We will not prevent you from applying for multiple jobs)

2-2) Application Categories

There are the following two application categories.

(A) SDGs Project Award

Target Activities: Projects related to the SDGs (Business, Educational Activities, etc.)

[Application Requirements]

- Graduate students or graduates of GSM must be the leader or in an equivalent role (co-leader, etc.) of the project concerned.

(B) SDGs Research Award

Target Activities: Research projects related to the SDGs.

[Application Requirements]

- Academic output must exist. Research in the conceptual stage is not eligible.
  - Academic outputs include papers, conference presentations, books, working papers, and reports on completion of GSM. When applying, PDF files of manuscripts of papers, abstracts of conference presentations, abstracts of books, etc. must be attached.
  - For current students, interim workshop reports can be submitted if the supervisor of the student feels that the report is "of a high enough standard" to be considered for an award. However, as a minimum requirement, it must be in the form of an academic report.
- The first author or co-authors of the academic output must be graduate students or graduates of GSM.
